EXPLANATORY NOTE

This is an index to the transcripts of the Mackenzie Valley Pipeline Inquiry hearings, both formal and community. It covers volumes XV (March 11, 1975) to 204 (November 19, 1976) of the formal hearing transcripts and all 77 of the community hearing transcripts. The table "List of Formal and Community Hearings" details the dates and locations of those hearings.

This index does not cover volumes I-XIV of the transcripts of the Inquiry, which are the record of the preliminary hearings (Yellowknife April 22, Inuvik April 24, Whitehorse April 25, Ottawa May 6-8, and Yellowknife September 12-13, 1974) and of the overview hearings (Yellowknife March 3-8, 1975).

As this edition is the final update of a progressive indexing process throughout the hearings, the entries under any particular topic are in the order in which transcripts were received from the printer (as listed below). No attempt has been made to put them into chronological order or to separate the formal from the community hearings, or one phase from another.

ORDER OF INDEXING

| | | | |
|------|---------|------|---------|
| XV | to 50 | 112 | to 153 |
| C-1 | to C-17 | C-40 | to C-58 |
| 56 | to 60 | 154 | to 161 |
| 51 | to 55 | C-59 | to C-67 |
| C-18 | to C-23 | 162 | to 169 |
| 61 | to 111 | C-68 | to C-77 |
| C-24 | to C-39 | 170 | to 204 |

Philosophy Behind the Index Methodology

This index tries to provide an entry into the transcripts by reference to topics and key words. It was commenced at the beginning of the formal hearings and -- like Topsy -- it has grown until now. Initial decisions had to be made as to the topics and key words that would be useful, but this system has always been considered flexible and additions and deletions have been made where it became apparent that they would increase the usefulness of the index. In producing this final edition, no attempt has been made to rationalize these changes.

The request from Mr. Justice Berger to produce this index was presented to me with no advance warning, so that options of more sophisticated systems (such as use of computers) were foreclosed in the need to produce something that would be immediately available for the use of Inquiry participants. Therefore, the index was moulded on the format I had developed when indexing parts of the Canadian Arctic Gas Pipeline application.

Prior to this final edition, the index contained a Daily Log, which enabled the reader to see at a glance which major topics were mentioned on any given day. Now that the hearing process is complete and the potential use of the index is long-term rather than on a day-to-day basis, the Daily Log is no longer of any use and has, therefore, been omitted. Other changes that a comparison of this and previous editions reveals are as follows:

The main topics "Community Hearings" and "Formal Hearings" have been omitted and replaced by the table "List of Formal and Community Hearings".

The "Witness (by name)" sheets have been removed from the Detailed Index Sheets section of the index and have been replaced by the "Alphabetical Listing of Witnesses at the Formal Hearings" in the front section of the book.

The main topic "Witnesses - Submissions" has been removed; it has been replaced by the "Alphabetical Listing of Witnesses at the Community Hearings", which follows the list of witnesses at the formal hearings.

How to use the Index

First, consult the Topic Index, which is a list of topics and key words. The key words that were chosen for use in the index, and to which I refer as "main topics", are shown in capital letters. Other key words or topics that are involved in the subject matter and which a reader may be interested in are shown in lower case. Immediately following the lower case entry there are one or more main topics entered in capitals, for example:

hiring: EMPLOYMENT; UNIONS AND AGREEMENTS

Some main topics are closely related or overlap one another. Such relationships are shown in the Topic Index as illustrated by the following:

TEST SITES AND FACILITIES (also: PIPELINE - TESTING, TEST MEDIA AND DISPOSAL)

Once a main topic has been selected, turn to the Detailed Index Sheets, which form the bulk of the book. The main topic is shown in capitals at the beginning of entries relating to it, and the topics are arranged in alphabetical order. Each page is divided into seven columns.

Column 1 - the volume of the transcript. As the formal and community hearings transcripts are numbered in separate series, formal hearing volumes are listed by number only, whereas the number of each community hearing volume is preceded by the letter "C".

Column 2 - the page on which the topic is discussed. Where only one page number is given, only that page is involved. Where two numbers are given, that topic is discussed on all or several of the pages between the two numbers.

Column 3 - the date of the hearing.

Column 4 - the location of the hearing.

Column 5 - the major speakers.

Column 6 - the speaker's identification. Where a witness appears on his own behalf, the word "citizen" is used. Names in this column -- and elsewhere -- follow the spelling used in the transcript.

Column 7 - describes briefly the specifics dealt with at each reference.

The transcripts and exhibits form the Public Record, and they are located at the Public Archives, 395 Wellington Street, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0N3.
